irrigate [ˈɪrɪgeɪt] vt.灌溉,冲洗

1. irrigate: 灌溉

ir-, 进入, 使, -rig, 雨, 词源同 rain. 即使下雨, 引申语义灌溉。拼写比较 fain,main.

前缀 ir- := in 进入

格林法则:

词根-rig-: 灌溉

rig = rain 雨水, 水

rain (n.)

Old English regn "rain," from Proto-Germanic *regna- (source also of Old Saxon regan, Old Frisian rein, Middle Dutch reghen, Dutch regen, German regen, Old Norse regn, Gothic rign "rain"), with no certain cognates outside Germanic, unless it is from a presumed PIE *reg-"moist, wet," which may be the source of Latin rigare "to wet, moisten" (see irrigate). Rain dance is from 1867; rain date in listings for outdoor events is from 1948. To know enough to come in out of the rain (usually with a negative) is from 1590s. Rainshower is Old English renscur.
